

RIR&C Radio/Podcast Internship

About the Program

Results International Research and Consulting offers semester-long and 6-month unpaid internships to current students (undergraduates and graduates) and recent graduates through the student outreach program with Smarter Perspectives and the Society of Global Health Researchers in Action.

Radio Correspondent (Domestic & International Politics, Current Events, Science and Technology)

We are seeking contributors to our weekly political Sunday morning radio program. Applicants should have a strong interest in domestic and international politics, current events, science & technology and/or other aspects of news related topics such as environmental, health and military/defense issues.

The incumbent will be responsible for researching and preparing segments of 5-10 minutes each every two weeks, including arranging interviews for live broadcast as needed. Additional responsibilities may include research assignments and becoming a weekly contributor as a panelist for our weekly round-table segment discussing opinions on and predictions of current events.

Minimum Required Skills and Experience

Detail-oriented.

Strong written and oral communication skills.

Strong research and writing skills and experience.

Ability to work independently and develop story, leads and interviews.

Research Assistant

5-15 hours/week

Application Process:

1. Please email your resume to admin@ iReInspire.com with the title of the Fellowship or Internship you are applying to in the subject line (ex. "APPLICANT: GIS Fellowship").
2. Complete the short application HERE.